Practice a Good Oral Health Routine

It's important to take care of your oral health to protect your mouth and body. It is recommended that everyone have their first dental checkup by age 1.

- Drinking plenty of water helps saliva clear sugar from your teeth. Dry mouth can cause sores and decay.

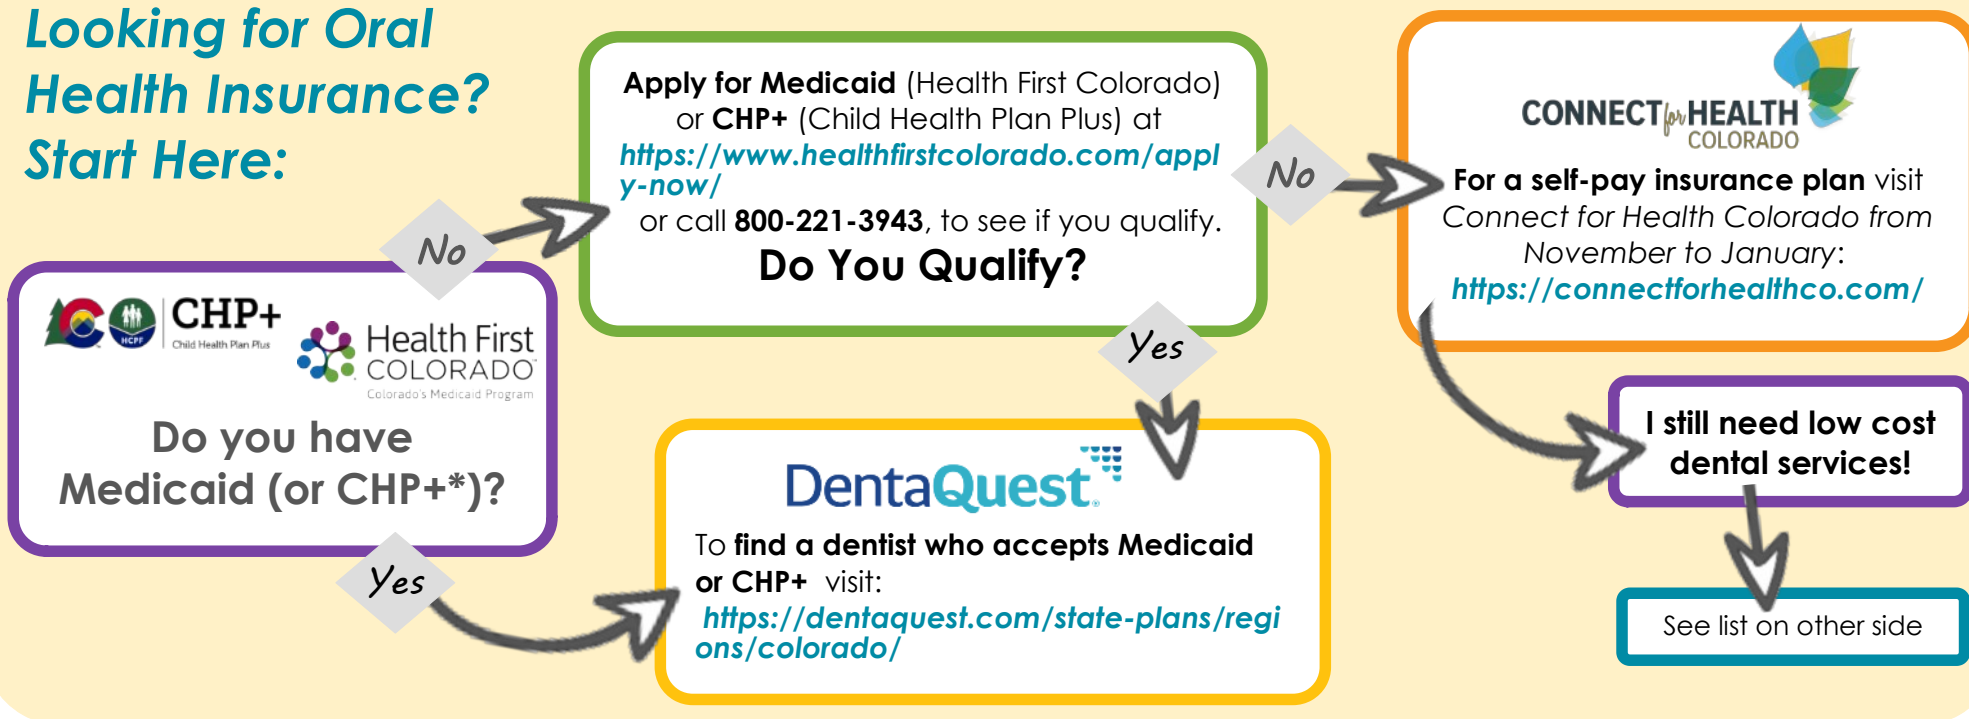

- Brushing twice a day with fluoride toothpaste and flossing once a day.
- Replacing your toothbrush every 3 months or sooner if the bristles look worn out will ensure effective cleaning.
- Eating sticky or sweet foods, especially between meals, leads to tooth decay.
- Drinking sugary and acidic drinks also contributes to tooth decay.
- Help young children brush and floss until they are able to do it themselves.
- Sharing your toothbrush means sharing bacteria.

- Eating a nutritious diet, including lots of fruits and vegetables, helps keep teeth and gums healthy.
- If you wear dentures, taking them out and cleaning them every day helps keep gums healthy.
- All tobacco products increase the risk of tooth decay and even oral cancer. (If you want help quitting, visit <https://coquitline.org>)
